Release Date: September 4th, 2014

Late Wednesday evening and just before 10PM, reports of a home on fire in the one-thousand block of Billy Bryant Rd., came in to the dispatch office of the Shelby County Fire Department. Engine Company No. 61 from 11611 Macon Rd. was the first on scene at five minutes after 10 o'clock and reported very heavy fire showing from the almost all of the 2,500 square foot split foyer home.

Attacks on the fire ensued while fire ground commanders verified that no one was in the home, which was confirmed by neighbors. Additional fire companies from Shelby County and Arlington Fire Departments rushed to the scene in addition to equipment and personnel from the West Fayette County Fire Department who arrived with no less than three tankers, dump tanks and personnel. In all, nearly thirty-five fire fighters were on this scene at its peak. One Arlington fire fighter was transported to an area hospital for observation only and has since been released.

The cause of this fire, which destroyed the home, is under investigation by the office of the Fire Marshal of the Shelby County Fire Department. As of this release, there is no cause or location of origin that has been determined.
