What is a Veterans Treatment Court?

Veterans Treatment Court is a specialty court that provides treatment and other services to justice involved veterans who may struggle with substance use and/or mental health issues. The veteran treatment courts use a non-adversarial approach to assist veterans that have found themselves in the criminal justice system toward a productive life free of crime. The courts assist the veterans with obtaining resources such as VA benefits, housing, and employment among other things.

What is the Role of a Mentor in Veterans Treatment Court?

A mentor is someone that is currently or previously served in the military that is willing to support the participant while they matriculate through veterans' treatment court. Mentors assist veterans with obtaining their VA benefits, transportation and other services in addition to providing emotional support. Although mentors provide emotional support they are not counselors and should only serve as an advocate for those they mentor.

What are the expectations for a mentor?

- Participate in and lead mentoring sessions when assigned by the Judge
- Be supportive and understanding of the difficulties the Veteran participants are facing
